Public meeting to be held

Residents will fight airport expansion

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

A Romulus homeowners association, gathering ammunition for a fight against a proposed runway expansion program at Detroit Metropolitan Airport, takes its second step toward the blocking of the expansion this week.

The Romulus Airport Neighborhood Action Committee (RANAC) has called a public meeting for 7 p.m. Friday at the Romulus High School, Auditorium, at which time RANAC organizers will solicit further support for their cause and introduce a California attorney retained by the group.

The public meeting will be preceded by a special session of the city council at 5 p.m., when city officials will decide what support to offer the homeowners.

'First, you can force the airport into changing its operation and delay the construction.'

RANAC was organized when residents of the Oakbrooke Subdivision, south of the airport, decided to protest the proposed addition of three more runways which they claim would increase air traffic and accompanying jet noise over their homes. The subdivision consists of three residential areas — Washington Park, Diamond Point and Emerald Green.

The association brought in California attorney Jerrold A. Fadern last week for consultations with RANAC's organizers and Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt. Fadern is known for similar airport expansion cases he has fought successfully in California. He will return to the city Friday to resume preparations for the homeowners' legal tussle with the airport.

RANAC's main concerns are the noise volume of airport air traffic, declining homeowner property values and the disruptions of classes in nearby schools, according to its chairman Fouad Berry.

The cousin of Wayne County Road Commissioner Michael Berry, whose organization operates the airport, Fouad Berry lives in Emerald Park.

BERRY SAID that more than 50 families have joined the homeowners association to fight the runway expansion, which they fear greatly will increase the noise volume of landing and departing aircraft.

According to attorney Fadern, RANAC has three avenues to follow after securing an injunction in the courts to at least temporarily delay construction plans.

"First, you can force the airport into changing its operation and delay the construction," he said. "Second you can try to establish a curfew time when airport traffic could not fly, for instance from 11 p.m. to 6 a.m., so people can at least get a night's sleep. "And third, you can try to get the airport to dispatch the noisier planes to runways where fewer people will be affected."

FADEM ASSURED the residents, however, that there are legal means to force the airport to "minimize the effect" of the new runways on the subdivision.

"My proposal is that you move with considerable speed before the construction (Continued on Page A-3)

In wake of drowning

Sheriff's to ticket trespassers at the quarry

Violators of "No Trespassing" signs at an abandoned stone quarry in Romulus may find themselves confronted with criminal charges, in the wake of a drowning at the water-filled pit last week.

Mayor Terry Troutt has received permission from the quarry's owner, S. G. Hayes of Land Development Corp., Southfield, to allow police officers to patrol the private land, a popular hang-out for youths.

"The city is going to clean it up in there," Troutt said. "If the city makes a few arrests I think it'll discourage people from going in there."

THE POPULAR swimming spot near Wick and Lisa roads is enclosed by a cyclone fence, but vandals have cut holes in the fence to gain access to the quarry, he said. At least four persons were on the property last Thursday when a 27-year-old Dearborn Heights man drowned while attempting to swim across the 200-yard wide pit.

Robert Timothy Yeager, of Dearborn Heights, drowned when he apparently suffered a cramp, according to the Wayne County Sheriff Patrol.

Deputies said the three witnesses told them that Yeager, who started swimming from the west bank, was only 30 feet from the east bank when he yelled to a girlfriend that he needed help. The girlfriend, swimming alongside Yeager, was unable to pull him ashore and he went under, they said.

Witnesses said Yeager had been eating a hamburger and drinking a soft drink before he went swimming.

YEAGER'S BODY was found in 12 feet of water at 12:33 p.m. and he was pronounced dead on arrival at Wayne County General Hospital. Two other witnesses, in addition to the girlfriend, saw the incident from shore where they had been fishing, police said.

The drowning was the first in over a year in Romulus. Two young boys drowned in another quarry in 1972.

"Private Property" and "No Trespassing" signs are posted at the quarry, but Troutt said the notices are often ignored. And though local residents often have complained about disturbances, police officers virtually have been powerless to enforce the no-trespassing warnings since it is private property.

But the drowning convinced the owner that police patrols are necessary.

"THE CITY HAS the permission it needs to go in there and clean it up," Troutt said.

"Anybody caught trespassing will be arrested and booked. The police won't give warnings either and any violators are under 18 they'll be taken to Wayne County Juvenile Court."

Troutt said much of the responsibility in discouraging persons from swimming at the quarry rests with parents.

"Many parents don't police their own kids," he said. "They let them roam and they go to the quarry. It's a very dangerous place, very deep and hazardous with steep banks. It's like letting your kid go out and play on the expressway."

"BUT THE OWNER can't keep an armed guard there. It's the peoples' responsibility to keep out."

The Hayes quarry is one of two in the city. The other pit, owned by the Moore Brothers Sand and Gravel Co., is located at Wick and Loraine. The Moore quarry is active and an armed guard has patrolled the area for the last seven years, according to Troutt.

He said Hayes had hired a contractor only two days before the drowning to repair the fence surrounding the pit, but added that no date had been set for the work to be done.

The mayor said the two quarry owners signed an agreement with Romulus in the early 1960s to mine the land for no more than 15 years. They would then have to cease operations and sell the land for subdivision development. He said Hayes does have a potential buyer for his inactive quarry.

Officials to check home for animals

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

Flagrant violations of Romulus' animal ordinances have prompted city officials to resume a program of door-to-door canvassing in search of unlicensed pets and illegally-kept livestock.

The canvassing is scheduled to begin this week, according to George Hargroves, chief administrator of the Romulus Animal Control Division, and was triggered in part by a rift between the city and a resident who allegedly is housing animals illegally.

Actually, the canvassing is nothing new to the city. Romulus practiced the policy for several years until last year, when budgetary reasons forced its cancellation, Hargroves said.

THE RESUMING of the animal inspections also is due to a number of complaints from residents about their neighbors' pets, he said.

"In the first quarter of this year alone the city received a total of 5,655 complaints about animals in the city," Hargroves said. "The city issued 195 tickets during those first three months. The problem really is getting bad."

Hargroves estimated that one-third of the homeowners in Romulus are in violation of the city's animal ordinance.

He said the canvassing - backed heavily by Romulus Mayor Terry Troutt - would begin "immediately" and commence at the south and north ends of town. The Animal Control Division's two full-time officers will handle the chore, along with "some extra help."

Romulus voters haven't seen last of swimming pool plan

Romulus voters apparently haven't seen the last of the ballot proposals to construct a swimming pool in the city.

Mayor Terry Troutt said he is optimistic that the city council will agree to place the issue on a future ballot, even though a similar pool proposal was defeated in the June 10 school election.

Voters turned down the pool millage request by the Romulus Board of Education for the third time, and Romulus School Supt. Robert McConeghy said he does not intend to propose another millage to build a school-operated pool for community use.

HOWEVER, the mayor maintains that the school board did not have adequate time to promote and publicize the pool before it went before the district voters, and therefore was defeated.

"I think it was the result of people being uninformed," he said. "There wasn't the proper type of publicity from the school explaining the details of the pool."

"The schools were handicapped because they had such a short time to promote it and explain to the people what the advantages of the pool would be, and how everyone would be allowed to use it."

"I am optimistic the city will propose a pool, but probably not this year," Troutt continued. "It would likely be next September (of 1975), but it's up to the council. It takes a vote of the council to put the proposal on the ballot."

TROUTT insists that a swimming pool is necessary for Romulus to have a "complete recreation program."

He said the city likely would propose the pool for a location adjacent to the high school on Wayne Road and probably use portions of the construction plans proposed by the school district.

However, he added that financing would take a different form.

"I expect the city would ask for a half-mill for 30 mills for years, instead of 3½ mills for a 2-year levy," Troutt said. WHEN AND IF a city pool proposal does become reality, the length of time between the birth of the proposal and election day will be long, he said.

"The city would do a complete informational promotion so everybody knows what they're voting on," Troutt added. "I don't want to push it too soon. I want the city to promote it good, probably starting six to eight months before placing it on the ballot."

Ford Motor Co. employees are back on job this week

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Eagle Auto Writer

More than 2,000 employees at the Motor Co. Wayne Truck Assembly Plant were laid off last week because of a parts shortage, but those employees are expected to be on the job again sometime this week.

The lay-offs came in mid-week when a severe parts shortage caused by a strike at Ford's Chicago Stamping Plant forced curtailments in all production.

In all, more than 15,000 Ford employees across the nation were laid off as a result of the Chicago strike, but by the end of this week, all are expected to be on the job.

Workers at Chicago voted to end a 9-day strike against working conditions last Thursday, and returned to work the same day.

Better mileage
Drivers in the area will get better gas mileage in 1975 than they did this year, despite more stringent anti-pollution control measures.

General Motors Corp. (GM) last week revealed that its intensive effort to improve gas mileage on its 1975-model cars resulted in a 22-per cent increase over mileage averages in the same 1974-model vehicles.

GM president Edward Cole said the increase will mean between 1½ and 3 miles per gallon extra mileage in GM cars, even though they will be equipped with catalytic converters in 1975 to combat pollution.

Destructive agent
GM also revealed last week that lead in gasoline is one of the most destructive agents in fuel to the new catalytic converters.

The GM report countered a report from Chrysler engineers which indicated not lead, but another chemical agent in new gasolines was more destructive to the converters.

The research to find the destructive chemical in gasoline was started earlier this year when spokesmen for the major automakers said a possible shortage of unleaded gasoline in 1975 could force drivers to utilize leaded fuel and destroy the catalytic converter anti-pollution devices.

New manager
Ford's Wayne assembly plant has a new manager.

W. Dale McKeen was appointed to replace former Wayne Assembly Plant manager J.E. Acker after Acker was assigned to special work in the Ford Automotive Assembly Division's Dearborn Offices.

This is the second stint at Wayne for McKeen. He was plant manager from 1972 to April 1973, when he moved to the Chicago Assembly Plant and was replaced by Acker.

Ford cost up
Ford products will cost an average of $10.45 more, but the company won't be taking that much in profit.

Ford announced last week that the prices on automobiles will be raised 10 per cent due to increases in rail shipping rates.

costs it may be forced to pass on to customers by opening the nation's first hot strip steel mill since 1970.

Located on the Ford Rouge Assembly complex, the hot strip mill will enable the automaker to produce 750,000 tons more steel per year than it had in the past.

The company pointed out that the increase was designed to pass on an added cost rather than boost profit margins.

Earlier this year, Ford promised the Federal Cost of Living Council that it would raise prices on its vehicles unless the automaker was hit with extra costs.

Classes to climb in Huron

Although class populations will decrease next fall, their number of classes will climb in the Huron School District.

Nearly every classroom in the district will be utilized every hour of the school day, said Huron Schools Supt. Byron K. Antcliff.

Antcliff told the Huron Board of Education last week that every room in Huron High School will be utilized every hour, and that almost every room in the junior high will be in 100 per cent use, during the next year due to the reduction in class sizes.

Antcliff said the district's two oldest schools, Hannan Road Elementary School and Riverside Elementary School, will show nearly 100 per cent use.

The district also has planned to vacate its administrative offices and remodel the building to construct the new Huron Elementary School.

Hedman urges citizens buy dog licenses

Only 1,600 Van Buren Township dog owners have purchased 1974 dog licenses, said Ralph Hedman, Van Buren Township Treasurer.

"There were 1,636 dog licenses issued so far this year, compared to 2,300 issued last year," Hedman said. "This means that more than 600 dogs still are lacking new dog tags."

"I would urge these dog owners to comply with the dog ordinance as soon as possible."

The standard $3 dog license fee has been increased to $10 following the expiration of the June 14 license purchase deadline.

TV becomes teacher in UAW-WSU program

Watching television can be changed from an escape to work toward a college degree

SURPRISE VISITOR—The history of Belleville and a few selected tall tales were among stories swapped between Belleville Postmaster R. J. O'Neill (left) and Ted Kuckelman, the executive secretary of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

Ford Motor Co., Wayne Truck Plant, members of UAW Local 900, will finish their first college term with 12 credits each after spending 10 weeks watching television, reading books, attending a weekend conference and writing a paper about their studies.

The new program is part of a series of classes to be offered by the Wayne State University College of Lifelong Learning weekend studies program. It is designed to allow persons who may not have been able to attend school in the past to obtain an associate or bachelor degree while studying at home.

IN THE PROGRAM students study year-long blocks of social science, natural science, humanities and then go on to advanced studies in their specialized fields including labor law, labor relations or humanities.

Veterans are urged to join in the program since the government will pay more than $8,000 in college costs, enough to finance the entire 4-year degree, said Assistant Program Director Carter Stevenson.

Under the recently bargained Ford UAW contract, workers at Ford not receiving GI benefits can have their tuition paid by the company, UAW officials said.

Classes are set up to coincide with all working shifts at area plants. Many classes are independent reading and television-watching on Channels 7 and 56 in the early morning or early evening hours. In the fall terms, a weekend conference is available for four credit hours.

STUDENTS TAKING a full load of one television course, one reading course and one weekend seminar can earn 12 credits per term.

Tuition for the 12 credits is $234. The tuition can be paid in installments during the 10-week term.

Many of the students who have been enrolled in the program in the first term are older men who feel their lack of college education is putting barriers on their job or personal progress, instructor Mary Robison said. Many said they were deprived of a college education when they were younger by pressure to aid the family or enter military service.

The older students are far more dedicated than 18-year-olds usually are, she added. "THE OLDER students take learning seriously because they value it and they know what it's like to be without it," she said.

The UAW-WSU education program can provide more job mobility, give opportunities for promotion or help a man or woman move into a different career field altogether, Stevenson said.

STUDENTS DONATE RESUSCITATOR—The City of Belleville has been given a mouth-to-mouth respiration device from the students at Belleville's South Junior High School. The hand-operated resuscitator, which will be used by the city police department, was accepted by (from left)

The public meeting will be preceded by a special session of the city council at 5 p.m., when city officials will decide RANAC was organized when residents of the Oak-broke Subdivision, south of the airport, decided to protest the proposed addition of three more runways which they claim would increase air traffic and accompanying jet noise over their homes. The subdivision consists of three residential areas — Washington Park, Diamond Point and Emerald Green.

The association brought in California attorney Jerrold A. Fadem last week for consultations with RANAC's organizers and Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt. Fadem is known for similar airport expansion cases he has fought successfully in California. He will return to the city Friday to resume preparations for the homeowners' legal tussle with the airport.

RANAC's main concerns are the noise volume of airport air traffic, declining homeowner property values and the disruptions of classes in nearby schools, according to its chairman Fouad Berry. As vice-president

Nixon needs man everyone knows is honest

Editor's note: Jerry Who? Many Americans asked that question when Gerald R. Ford was nominated to be vice-president of the United States. The answer is in "Jerry Ford, Up Close," the first biography of the man, written by a veteran Booth Newspapers reporter who has followed Ford's career for 25 years. Today, The Daily Eagle begins seven installments excerpted from the new book.

By BUD VESTAL

It began October 10, 1973. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew resigned from office and went to court to plead no contest to a charge of income-tax evasion.

On October 10 this writer was driving through Oklahoma when the car radio began to blurt bulletins about Agnew.

As with most Americans, my first thought was, "Agnew is just a crook after all."

SECOND: "Now who?"
"Nixon will appoint Jerry Ford," my wife, Phillis said with conviction.

A self-professed political expert, I recited the litany of why-nots and concluded, "Jerry is a square's square; it would be just too much, even for Nixon."

"That's just why," she replied. "Nixon needs somebody everybody knows is honest."

President Nixon announced just two days after Agnew's resignation that he would nominate a new vice president under the Twenty-fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

THAT NOMINEE was the Minority Leader of the House, Republican Gerald Ford of Michigan.

There followed one of the most exhaustive investigations of a man's life in American history. Everybody got in on it - the Rules Committee of the Senate, the Judiciary

Jerry Ford, Up Close--Chapter 1

Committee of the House, and the FBI. But across the nation and around the world there arose one question: Who is Jerry Ford, what kind of man is he, what kind of President would he make? Even in Michigan no library had a book about Ford.

Outside of Congress, Ford's Fifth Congressional district in Michigan, and Republican party officials, Ford really was unknown.

AND AT ANY moment Ford could become President by any one of three ways - impeachment and conviction of Nixon, his resignation or his death.

In the United States' unique system of government Gerald Ford, until October of 1973, was one of the most powerful yet unknown leaders. He had represented two Michigan counties, where the biggest vote he ever got was 131,461. Now, in a few minutes, he would take the second highest office in a nation of more than 210 million, I thought.

Then he would be President in escrow.

For 25 years he had prepared himself for leadership, always planning how to achieve the next rung up the ladder and what to do when he got there. But few knew it. The major news media applauded his honesty, candor and humility - at the same time listing the reasons he should be humble.

HE WAS 60. He stood straight, over six feet tall and was not much heavier than when he had played football 39 years earlier.

He was himself and he had spent 60 years shaping that self. The sophisticates who would try to describe his character were frustrated because he was so normal.

At 6:10 p.m., Dec. 6, 1973, Gerald Rudolph Ford, Jr., raised his right hand in the U.S. House of Representatives, where he had spent 25 years working toward but never getting the top office of Speaker, and became vice-president of the United States.

His wife, Elizabeth, stood beside U.S. Supreme Court Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, who administered the oath. President Richard Nixon stood behind Ford - actually and figuratively.

FORD SPOKE the oath loud and clear in his Midwestern accent. He fluffed his lines just once, in the phrase "I will well and faithfully discharge." Justice Burger repeated the phrase and Ford corrected himself.

Speaker Carl Albert presided. He had given the Ford family his special gallery seats, where the Fords' four children, Michael, John Steven, and Susan, sat alongside Mrs. Nixon and the President's chief of Staff, Gerald Alexander M. Haig Jr.

As we see it

A little cleaning effort can go a long way

Van Buren Township's largest subdivision is going to be cleaned up. Residents in the City of Belleville have formed a committee to work on cleaning blight in the community. And residents in Romulus and city officials are continuing their campaign to improve the community.

It looks like a little cleaning effort can go a long way and it encourages bigger and better campaigns in other areas.

The clean-up effort in Western Wayne County seemed to snowball from Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt's effort to make his city a better place to live.

HE ENCOURAGED clean-up activities in the city with the hopes of developing better community spirit among the residents. And in back of the mayor's clean-up campaign, was the threat that residents who failed to improve their homes and yards would be ticketed for violating city regulations.

A group in Belleville is spearheading that city's clean-up efforts and is even planning a trash can painting campaign and contest among other things to encourage citizens to make their city just a little bit nicer to live in.

And just last week the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees decided to consider creating a special assessment district to finance weekly rubbish pickups in the Van Buren Estates Subdivision.

The board also ordered more intensive enforcement after hearing complaints from irate subdivision residents.

A GROUP OF residents attend a township board meeting and complained of inadequate rubbish collections, rats and apparent violations of township blight ordinances.

Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer said residents were issued a warning if a violation was found and that court citations would be issued if problems weren't corrected.

He has miles to go

Cavanagh on political trail

BRIGHTON — Super-Cav handshook his way between the tables in the dining room like a preacher harvesting souls from the burning.

He appeared to draw sustenance from the response to his candidacy for governor, renewed now after the removal of a cancerous kidney.

But former Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh has political miles to go and promises to keep if he is to overtake former Sen. Sander M. Levin in the Oct. 6 primary for the Democratic nomination.

'I think my chances are really good.'

"I THINK MY chances are really good or I wouldn't be in it," he said.

Cavanagh ordered a lunch of salad and iced tea and said he was ready for the race. He's down to 183 pounds and his suit coat drapes nicely where it used to stretch.

He said he lost nothing except the kidney during his six weeks off the trail, that Levin ran standing still during that period.

"He didn't excite anybody and no segment of the electorate rushed to his candidacy," Cavanagh said.

LEVIN HAS BEEN a quiet campaigner this year. He is using the face-to-face front porch approach around the state, a technique that launched the G. Mennen Williams Democratic dynasty in 1948.

Up to this point, Cavanagh's problems have been his health (now perfect, he says), his last campaign (losing to Williams in the U.S. Senate primary of 1966) and money.

Cavanagh speared a piece of lettuce and told of 55 businessmen who had each pledged $10,000 to his campaign before he became ill. They're sticking, he added.

The primary campaign budget before his illness was $550,000 and now is down to $350,000, "which I'm positive we can raise," he said.

LEVIN'S CHOICE of utility rates as a major campaign issue for 1974 is "a complete phony," Cavanagh said. The proposed shift in the utility rate burden from residential to business and industrial will be another factor discouraging expansion of the economy.

Rather, Cavanagh said, the thrust should be toward improving the efficiency of the utilities both to assure the supply of energy and keep the rates within reason for all customers.

And Gov. William G. Milliken, who will be seeking another full 4-year term against the challenge of either Levin or Cavanagh, also came under sharp attack.

Cavanagh said Milliken is responding to the potential loss of business and industry rather than preventing it from happening.

"THE GOVERNOR of Michigan, representing one of the most important states in the economy, should be stating national policy," he said. "We did it at the city level through the National League of Cities and the National Conference of Mayors.

"We should be heading into a golden age in Michigan," Cavanagh's time (1961-69) as mayor of the nation's fifth largest city raised the question whether anybody could be a successful mayor. He did better than most.

Cavanagh inherited a $30 million deficit and wiped it out with a bold income tax the first year. Then, he kept the budget balanced with federal aid money and reduced the city payroll.

'We should be heading into a golden age...'

THIS QUALIFIES him as enough of an expert to charge that state spending and the state payroll are growing at a rate faster than those of the federal government.

He charges that the governor of Michigan should be pulling back more money from the federal government for Michigan, that the state is No. 5 in U.S. tax payments and dead last, No. 50, in federal aid.

"Michigan should be doing better than any other state but the reverse is true," he said.

Cavanagh picked his way out through the tables, shaking hands.

But he's not discouraged

Ford has work cut out for him

If this Congress finally enacts anti-busing legislation, Rep. William D. Ford (D-Mich.)

will have to perform a feat comparable to that of the Dutch boy who kept his finger in the dike.

Ford knows he has his work cut out for him, but he is not discouraged. Actually, he believes a growing national dislike of court ordered busing, by black and white parents alike, has given him a chance to come out a winner despite the apparent odds against him.

The busing controversy in Congress has reached the stage of a House-Senate Conference Committee charged with compromising the differences between the House and Senate approved versions of the $23 billion federal school aid bill.

CHIEF OF THESE differences is the Esch Amendment designed to protect the concept of the neighborhood school by prohibiting the busing of pupils beyond the schools nearest or next nearest their homes.

This is the amendment Ford is determined to fight for in the conference committee over the next couple of weeks or longer. His hand was strengthened when the House by a vote of 270 to 103 insisted recently that this provision be embodied in the education bill.

The House action was advisory, however, and does not bind even the House conferees, much less those from the Senate side.

THE MAKE UP of the conference committee shows what Ford is up against. Of the 13-member House members only for and Rep. John J. Ashbrook (R-Ohio) can be counted on to fight for the amendment which goes under the name of Rep. Marvin L. Esch (R-Mich.).

Pro-busing conferees, on the other hand, include Reps. Carl D. Perkins (D-Ky.), chairman of the House Education Committee; Lloyd Meeds (D-Wash.), Shirley Cisholm (D-N.Y.) and Augustus F. Hawkins (D-Calif.).

The 13 Senate conferees headed by Sen. Claiborne Pell (D-R.I.) also are overwhelmingly opposed to the Esch amendment. A strong pro-busing pitch can be expected in the committee from Sens. Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.), Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) and Walter F. Mondale, (D-Minn.) among others.

When the crunch comes it is far from certain that the pro-busing conferees will feel compelled to give ground on anything.

BECAUSE THE neighborhood-school concept obviously is popular with many voters, the conference committee, in the end, might feel it the better part of valor to agree to that portion of the Esch amendment.

The bitterest fight undoubtedly will come on the so-called "reopener clause."

If finally enacted into law this clause in the Esch amendment would allow reconsideration of some 1,500 court desegregation orders or voluntary plans already in operation across the country, particularly in the Old South.

By TOM OCHILTREE
Washington Bureau Chief

Ford's first pledge was, "Mr. President, you have my support and my loyalty."

This was no news to Nixon. Loyalty was exactly why Ford was the new vice-president.

Why this man over any other? Why nominate Jerry Ford, the big jock, the politician who could have been a preacher and thought the same set of morals would work for both? Why this legislative technician who was known to think for himself on occasion, sometimes with (politically) disastrous results?

THE ANSWERS are simple and several. Loyalty: It burned in Jerry Ford like an eternal flame.

Liking: Ford and Nixon had met after Nixon's first term in the House of Representatives. They had come to know and like each other.

'I wouldn't call his taste farmerish...'

Jerry Ford had all the pluses and very few minuses. He had never authored a major program of legislation on his own, never made an enemy needlessly, never joined the wrong cause or crusade, never had been tainted by liberal political commitments, seldom disagreed with Nixon programs and wouldn't demand a showdown if he did.

FOR A FEW WEEKS Ford had the best of two worlds. He still was House Minority Leader and would be until after the exhaustive investigation. And then a simple majority vote of both House and Senate would make him vice-president under the 25th Amendment.

Ford himself had no worries on any point because he knew he had a clean record; most Congressmen were sure of it, too, but it wasn't enough that Congress be sure: the American people and the world had to be assured.

At one time more than 430 FBI agents across the nation worked on the investigation. It covered everything imaginable. One agent even went to the tailor in Grand Rapids who for 25 years had made most of the clothing Ford wore.

THE TAILOR, an imaginative man named Lloyd Lievens, had kept a record of every coat, suit and pair of trousers. He also had urged Ford to wear brighter, more informal clothing. No luck: Ford was not "mod" in taste.

"I wouldn't call his taste farmerish ... but on the other hand ... Lievens fell silent when asked to characterize Ford's severe clothing styles.

"Well, I notice since his nomination that he's loosening up a little," Lievens added. "You can see that on color television."

The FBI's raw file, its stack of reports from such exhaustive research, was just one part of the vetting of Ford for the vice-presidency.

MUCH BROADER inquiry came during hearings by the House Judiciary and Senate Rules committees. The members and other Congressmen had questions about Ford's political history and beliefs; so did leaders of the Americans for Democratic Action, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and others.

There was testimony concerning Ford's attack in 1970 on Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas; his support of the President's unsuccessful nomination of G. Harrold Carswell and Clement F. Haynsworth to the Supreme Court; his raising of funds for Republican congressional candidate; not only for himself but for the Republican Congressional Boosters Club. There was testimony that he had recommended a Boosters contributor for an ambassadorship.

The inquiry turned to other matters. It was established that Ford had had an unfortunate association with a lobbyist named Robert N. Winter-Berger, who had made many allegations about Ford in a book on Washington graft.

So it went, from Oct. 12 until the end of November. MOST OF THOSE involved in the investigation, Ford included, grew weary of the detail, but they wanted to do it right, even to establishing Ford's net worth at hardly $250,000. It was the first time in American political history Congress had to approve or reject a presidential nomination for Vice President under the 25th Amendment. It was a wonder Ford could keep calm the first few weeks after he took the oath Dec. 6. Just moving from the Capitol to the Old Executive Office Building was a wrench.

'...she was going to burn all the papers.'

But they dismantled Ford's perfect people-pleasing machine of 18 people and in eight weeks built a new staff numbering 54 members.

Ford had made definite plans for the annual family vacation at his chalet in Vail and was not about to change his plans, although one well-wisher suggested in print that he stay in Washington and be federal regent while the President skipped off to his Key Biscayne or San Clemente home.

AT VAIL FORD sacrificed his family's privacy at its only reunion of the year to mollify the small platoon of newsmen covering him. He submitted to press conferences, although he had little to say about government or public affairs at the moment. Press secretary Paul Miltich had stayed in Washington, and Ford made it politely clear there would be a vacation.

When a public-opinion-poll report came out showing Ford ahead of any other Republican (including Nixon) as presidential preference, Ford's comment was typical: "When I read that, Betty pulled the covers over her head and said she was going to burn all the papers."

Christmas Day newsmen were allowed to photograph the present-opening around the Ford Christmas tree, and interviewed the Fords' three sons and their daughter.

Michael, 23, is the introspective Ford. A divinity student at a seminary near Boston, he is working for a master's degree in theology but has not yet decided his future.

JOHN, 21, is a forestry student at Utah State. He is studying watershed management. But he also is considering law school and is the only young Ford who does not rule out a political future.

Steve, 17, couldn't wait for high school graduation in June, to go on to college and dental school. He termed the Ford family life "a simple way of life" and feared that would have to change "if we moved to the White House."

Susan, 16, takes lessons in ballet and modern dance, likes skiing, cooking, stichery, clothing. She has no career plan yet. It is her privilege to baby Shan, the family's Siamese cat

Councilwoman combines politics, family life

By SUE McDONALD
Of The Roman Staff

The combination of city politics and family life will have new voice to contend with when Romulus Councilwoman Joan Lee brings home her new son, Robert Jr.

The 28-year-old Romulus housewife has been mixing the two careers since her election to the city's legislative body last November, caring for her husband and 3-year-old daughter while tending to city business.

She has been able to meet the demands of both occupations and maintain a perfect attendance record at the three meetings per month...that was until Robert's birth interrupted the routine.

MRS. LEE, one of the first two women elected to the city council, spent the June 4 meeting in the hospital, but returned to start on a new meeting record at the next meeting.

Young Robert, who made his appearance on June 1, weighing in at 7½ lbs., has been unable to settle into the Lee household.

The infant has been hospitalized since his birth because of a viral infection. The Lees, however, plan to bring Robert home in about two weeks.

Through the efforts of her husband, Mrs. Lee has been able to keep up her political career and will be able to attend meetings while he cares for the children.

ACCORDING TO MRS. Lee, her "easy going, good natured" husband has helped with the cooking and child care since she began her political career and due to a job layoff will be able to continue to help care for the youngsters until he is recalled.

Not only is Mrs. Lee anxious to get her new son home, her daughter, Laura also is waiting to join in the child care activities.

"It's important to make her feel like she's a part of the family," Mrs. Lee said. "I'm looking forward to having her to help get the diapers and powder."

"But I won't feel like I have a baby until I bring him home," she added.

SHE BECAME involved in city politics through her efforts to get things done for the neighborhood. She said she never expected to get elected, but that she "never could have done it without the support of her husband."

She added that she has run into no problems in mixing the two careers, and with the help of her husband and a good babysitter, young Robert should find his home life enjoyable.

plants if they were donated to help beautify the area around the church directory. The Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce asked Bentley's Nursery to donate the plants.—Enterprise-Roman photo.

Former Belleville mayor, wife to mark 50th year

A former mayor of Belleville and his wife, Clarence and Irene Heininger, will mark their golden wedding anniversary at a reception from 3 to 6 p.m. Sunday, June 30. The party, which is being arranged by the couple's children, will be held in the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville. All the Heiningers' friends, neighbors and customers are welcome to attend. The couple requests that there be no gifts, please.

Mrs. Heininger was Irene Porter when she married in her hometown of Milford, Mich. June 26, 1924. She and her husband (who is better known as "Heinie") moved to Belleville shortly after their wedding and resided in the old Post home on Main and Third Streets for four years before moving to Nina Horn's house on Columbia Avenue where they lived for 25 years. Twenty-two years ago they built the ranch home at 281 E. Huron River Drive where they currently reside.

They are the parents of two sons, Reinard (Ray), who is in business with his father, and Milford (De), a pharmacist in Toledo, Ohio. There are also two grandchildren, four-year old Jay and two-year old Kay, on their family tree. De's wife, Dolores (Dolly), is making the party preparations.

The Heiningers have been in the automobile dealership business all their married lives having been affiliated with Oakland Pontiac for nine years before joining up with Chevrolet. Their first garage was located on Main Street (now part of the Urban Renewal site) and their current business location is at E. Huron River and Potter Drives. The garage and show room were recently sold but the Heiningers will still be a part of the organization since both father and son are remaining with the new owners, the senior member on a semi-retired basis.

and 20 years on the Belleville City Council, is a life member of the Oddfellows and the Masons. He and his wife belong to the Belleville Senior Citizens Club. She has been an active member of the Huron Valley Garden Club and is a Past Matron of the Order of Eastern Star.

Adding a nostalgic note to Sunday's party will be the floral arrangements of daisies which the young Mrs. Heininger plans to use to honor her in-laws. Because she remembers them telling how they went into the fields to pick daisies for their wedding (when life was so much simpler), she decided to add that "special touch" of 1924 to the 1974 proceedings.

Summer sewing planned

Time on your hands this summer? The J.L. Hudson Company will present a special summer sewing program for teens and pre-teens at Hudson's Westland store. The schedule is as follows:

Weight Watchers laud loser of 100-plus lbs.

Weight Watchers of Eastern Michigan recently presented a "Hundred Pound Weight-Loss" trophy to Ruth Brumbaugh of Belleville. A member of Weight Watchers since October, 1971, Mrs. Brumbaugh has shed 110 pounds.

The presentation was made by Martha Stavros, who is the lecturer at Trinity Episcopal Church of Belleville on Thursday nights. Members celebrated Ruth's success as well as their own individual progress with a Weight Watchers' tasting party.

Asked what she thought about the program, Ruth commented that not only was it the only way she could have done it (lost all that poundage) but it is a delightful learning experience.

"The food," she said, "is wonderful and the health it brings is a fantastic bonus."

Ruth lives with her husband, Claud, at 49671 W. Huron River Dr., Belleville. Besides their two married sons, the Brumbaughs have a daughter who is also a "Weight Watcher."

For Mills-Soil

Vows said at St. Anthony's

In a spring ceremony at St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Belleville, Deborah Soilk became the bride of Terry Mills. The 5 p.m. nuptial rite was read by The Rev. Raymond Skoney before 250 assembled relatives and friends.

White mums and blue delphiniums graced the altar as the young couple exchanged wedding bands and vows. Mrs. William Emerson was at the organ to provide traditional bridal music.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Soilk of 44561 Harris Rd., Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Burrell Mills of 340 Church St., Belleville, are parents of the bride and bridegroom.

ESCORTED TO the sanctuary by her father, Deborah was gowned in an ivory organza creation fashioned with deep, cuffed lace sleeves, a re-embroidered lace bib effect on the bodice and a chapel-length train.

Her ivory veil, which drifted to cathedral length, was in the mantilla mode and was caught to a Camelot headpiece with lace roses framing her face. A bouquet of white baby roses and blue delphiniums completed her bridal finery.

A halter style A-line gown with a green bodice and Nile green plaid skirt was worn by the matron of honor, Mrs. Robert Villa of Belleville, sister of the bridegroom. The dress was topped with a short plaid bolero jacket with ruffles at the wrist to match the flounce on the hemline of the gown. She wore a matching picture hat and carried white baby roses with green-tipped carnations.

Preceding her up the aisle in identical pale blue costumes were the trio of bridesmaids: Lori Minthorn of Belleville and two cousins from Clearwater, Fla., Shelly Morrow and Andrea Morros.

ROGER THOMAS of Belleville was asked to be best man. Groomsmen were Kevin Owen, Brad Susterka and Barry Susterka, all of Ypsilanti.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the P.N.A. Lodge in Belleville. Mrs. Soilk greeted guests in an aqua floor-length gown with silver beaded trim and matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose to wear a deep aqua street-length dress of lace and chiffon with silver shoes and handbag. Both were honored with white orchids.

For traveling to their new home in Colorado Springs, Colo., the new Mrs. Mills wore a powder blue pantsuit and navy accessories.

Both young people are Belleville High School graduates, Debbie a member of the class of 1973 and Terry 1972. Prior to her marriage the bride was employed by Van Buren Public Schools. Her husband is currently serving with the U.S. Army at Fort Carson, Colo.

MRS. TERRY MILLS

Belleville student returns from trip

Belleville High School student Rise Knight, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Knight of 45 E. Wabash, Belleville, will be arriving home from a tour abroad on July 18.

Rise, a junior at Belleville High, was among 78 young musicians chosen from 300 auditioning with the Blue Lake International Youth Symphony prior to a scheduled tour of The Netherlands, West Germany and Sweden.

Those participating have been rehearsing once a month since January and a week of intensive rehearsals was held prior to leaving for Europe on June 17.

Rise, who performs as a pianist, is also active in the Belleville High symphony, the marching and jazz bands, and is vice-president of the Biology Club and was also active in the 1974 school production of "Oliver."

3 women of area receive art prize

The fifth annual Milan Art Fair was held June 2 under sunny skies at Wilson Park in Milan, Mich.

The fair, sponsored by the Milan Arts and Crafts Club, is held each year on the first Sunday in June. This year, more than 120 artists and craftsmen came from all over Southeastern Michigan and parts of Ohio to display a wide variety of art work.

The art mediums were judged by Michael Church, a well-known artist, photographer and juror and the Director for Cultural Activities with the Extension Services at the University of Michigan. The crafts were juried this year by Mr. and Mrs. Hal Watson. Mrs. Watson is an art teacher with the Wayne Schools and Mr. Watson is an illustrator and commercial artist.

Three Belleville women were among those receiving awards for their work. In the artwork, two dimensional category, Gertrude Stephens received a first-place ribbon for her oils.

Also earning a first was Connie Etter whose macrame was entered in the crafts, three-dimensional category. A second-place ribbon in the same division went to Sandy Askew for her weaving.

THE CHIEF AT WORK — With sauerkraut, knackwurst, apples and steak, a Romulus man, Gerry Kain, found a place in the Detroit Edison Co. "King of the Patio" cook-off. Although he didn't win, the 31-year-old said he had fun during the competition.

Romulus man lost contest; But he had fun in cook-off

He didn't win, but a Romulus resident sure had fun trying in the Detroit Edison Co. "King of the Patio" cook-off. Gerry Kain, 31, combined sauerkraut, knackwurst, apples, steak and cheese to come up with his "Barbecue Roll-up."

Maryland church chosen for Alm-Buck wedding vows

Bethany Lutheran Church in Suitland, Md., was the setting for the recent marriage of Sandra Alm of Baltimore, Md., and Dr. Russell Buck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Buck of East Huron River Drive, Belleville.

The Rev. Clarence Solberg conducted the double ring rite, which included music by Miss Jane Solberg.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alm of Plover, Wis., wore a gown of her own creation in hand-embroidered silk-shantung in a shirtwaist style. Her flowers were pastel daisies in a nosegay arrangement, and she wore matching flowers in her hair.

MRS. JENNIFER Hintz of Amherst, Wis., lifelong friend of the bride, assumed the duties of matron of honor. A nosegay of pastel daisies complemented her gown of aqua chiffon, worn with matching accessories.

The bridegroom asked Robert K. Stuart, M.D., a classmate in the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, Baltimore, to serve as his best man.

Witnessing the ceremony, Mrs. Alm, mother of the bride, wore a pink jacketed gown with white accessories and a corsage of white orchids. Mrs. Buck wore a pastel print chiffon gown, white accessories and also had a white orchid corsage.

The reception honoring the newlyweds was held at the Laurel, Md. home of Mr. and Mrs. William Norton.

DR. AND MRS. RUSSELL BUCK

A young native Detroit of Chinese ancestry prepared a recipe he calls "Chinese Barbecue Duck" to win top prize in the patio contest.

MICHAEL E. MOY of Royal Oak, a first time participant in the cook-off, earned the crown in what judges called the "toughest ever" of the annual competitions for men living in Southeastern Michigan.

Moy's wife, Connie, was on hand to lend moral support and to help carry home the complete patio ensemble — a counter top jet fan oven, an insulated 30-cup coffee maker and an electric grill and patio cart — which came with the crown.

Alvin Stefanski of Ferndale, who had won third and second prizes in previous contests, came in a close second again this year.

His "Secret Sauce Kabobs" are a combination of beef cubes and chicken livers flavored with a sauce of his own brew. Although not allowed to lend a hand, Stefanski's wife, Joan, cheered him on from the sidelines.

HIS CULINARY skill earned him a "Thrifty Combo," consisting of a rotisserie-broiler and a super pot.

Another first-time participant, Dr. E.R. McPhee, associate professor of dentistry at the University of Michigan, won an electric skillet with broiler lid and a blender-ice crusher as third prize.

His "Lemon Chicken on Wild Rice" is a special favorite of his wife, Penny, who also attended the cook-off.

After George L. Lahodny, Detroit Edison's executive vice-president-customer and marketing services, crowned "King Michael" and awarded the prizes, all the finalists and their ladies were honored at a dinner at the Detroit Hilton. Joining them were the judges and company officials. All finalists received an electric appliance. Recipes of all the finalists

THE NEW Mrs. Buck holds a bachelor of science degree from the University of Wisconsin and graduated in 1973 with a degree in immunohematology from Johns Hopkins. She has been supervisor of the blood bank at Johns Hopkins for the past year.

Dr. Buck is a 1964 graduate of Belleville High School, received his bachelor of science degree from Michigan State University in 1967, and was awarded his degree as a doctor of veterinary medicine from Michigan State in 1968. He will begin his residency training at Ann Arbor in July.

Joint water, sewage disposal authority eyed

The Van Buren Township Board of Trustees unanimously approved the adoption of a joint Canton-Van Buren Water and Sewage Disposal Authority.

The Canton Township Board of Trustees has the proposed authority under study and was expected to take formal action on the proposal last night.

The proposed joint authority was initiated some months ago by Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer to allow townships "to get from under the control of Wayne County especially regarding the issuance of bonds."

THE COUNTY agency acts for the township in bonding matters unless it (the township) is a member of a joint authority, Gollwitzer said.

Michigan statutes authorize the incorporation of a joint authority.

The purpose of the authority, which was approved at last week's meeting of the Van Buren trustees, is to supervise the acquisition, ownership, improvement, enlargement, extension and operation of a water system or sewage disposal system within the boundaries of the two townships, Gollwitzer said.

The trustees authorized Van Buren Township Clerk Patricia Cullin and Gollwitzer to sign the Canton-Van Buren Sewage Disposal and Water Supply Authority agreement.

THE AUTHORITY will have the power to acquire necessary property, inside or outside its corporate limits.

and to convey that property. It also will have the power of contract, to sue or be sued and to hire all necessary officers and employees.

The governing body of the proposed joint authority would be a board of trustees with two trustees from each township appointed by the respective township boards.

The trustees would serve staggered 3-year terms and be paid only for expenses incurred on authority business. The joint authority board would elect its own officers.

Trap shooting facility to open in township

One of America's "finest and most modern trap shooting facilities" will open in Van Buren Township next month.

The Winchester Thunderbird Public Shooting Center, formerly the Thunderbird Club, will open July 27 and 28 at 46901 Van Buren Road west of Belleville Road in Van Buren Township.

Most recent of the public trap and skeet clubs franchised by the Winchester-Western Division of Olin Corporation, the Winchester Shooting Center will offer a variety of programs designed for people who have never before fired a shotgun. Free public gun safety and "Learn to Shoot" courses, conducted by professional instructors and special shooting leagues which will provide novice shooters with a combination of outdoor fun, relaxation and friendly competition, will operate in Van Buren Township.

SIX COMBINATION trap and skeet fields will be available for local shotgunners. All six fields will feature new automatic traps and will be fully illuminated for night shooting.

The Winchester Thunderbird Public Shooting Center has a modern air-conditioned clubhouse which contains a comfortable lounge, classroom facilities for new shooters, refreshment vending machines and an extensive fully equipped pro shop.

The latest Winchester shotguns will be available for rental and Winchester Western target ammunition will be sold on the club grounds. Shooters who wish to bring their own guns or ammunition will be charged for targets.

During the grand opening weekend, July 27 and 28, a variety of valuable door prizes will be awarded to visitors.

These include a Winchester Model 12 Trap Gun, a Winchester Model 9422, rimfire rifle, shooters' supplies from the pro shop, free rounds of shooting at the club, and other prizes.

THE SHOOTING center will operate seven days a week, from 4 to 10 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Wednesday and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

The manager of the shooting center is Harold J. (Bud) Oestrike, a native of Monroe.

NEW ASSISTANT — The Van Buren Board of Education has appointed John R. Forsyth the new assistant principal at South Junior High School. Forsyth, a resident of Ypsilanti and member of the school's teaching staff, fills the vacancy created by the death of Helen Nass last December.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

HAROLD REDISKE, HAROLD REDISKE, JR. — DIRECTORS

What's your hurry? Seems like every one is in a hurry to get some place. Yet, in spite of the spirited razzamataz, we often have a rush of remorse because we don't know what to do when we get there - or we are bored when we get there.

Some one once wrote, "Take time to THINK. It is the source of power... Take time to PRAY. It is the greatest power on earth... Take time to be FRIENDLY. It is the road to happiness... Take time to WORK. It is the price of success... Take time to PLAY. It is the secret of perpetual youth... Take time to READ. It is the fountain of wisdom... Take time to GIVE. It is too short a day to be selfish... Take time to LOVE and to be LOVED. It is a God given privilege."

When you think about it, those very thoughts show why moral chaos, misery and evil result from hurried, hurried days. Let's slow down. We will live better - and longer. Want proof? Ask any clergyman, or your doctor...

Fire fighter in township will retire

A 10-year veteran of the Van Buren Township Fire Department No. 1 has retired. Eben D. Smith resigned from the department and the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees accepted the resignation "with regrets."

The township trustees plan to present a plaque to Smith in recognition of his service.

Stephen Kuchta says, "Ever hear of a claims adjuster who treats your car like he'd treat his own?"

A lot of people have SENTRY people. The folks who have all their auto insurance needs handled by us. SENTRY Insurance. Why us? For a very good, old fashioned reason. We don't act like a big insurance company even though that's what we are. So our adjusters will get SENTRY policyholders a new bumper if the chrome is cracked. We don't just get it straightened and spray some new paint on. Our way of looking at it is: whatever your auto insurance needs are, you're entitled to person-alized protection. The kind of protection an adjuster would want for his own car. See the SENTRY man above for all your auto insurance. You'll like his attitude.

Association planning project to paint Belleville trash cans

A trash can painting project and contest, one of the initial phases of a Belleville-Van Buren Township area beautification program, will get underway at noon Sunday.

The beautification program is being sponsored by the recently organized Belleville Area Improvement Association (BAIA).

The association is asking for volunteers to participate in the trash can painting program, said Shirley Erb, the program director. She added that the project's theme is "Independence."

THE TRASH CAN painting project will be held on Roys Street in Belleville.

The trash cans are to be painted in red, white, blue and black, with volunteers painting their own independence-oriented designs on the cans.

Persons wishing to volunteer and make arrangements for reserving a trash can are asked to call Frank Volk at 697-0826.

The Rheem Manufacturing Co. in Romulus has donated 20 trash cans to the project, Mrs. Erb said.

VOLUNTEERS ARE requested to bring their own paint and brushes.

Mrs. Erb also announced that the BAIA will sponsor a block dance to be held on Roys Street on July 4.

The dance will begin after the annual fireworks display on Belleville Lake.

The judging for the winners of the trash can painting contest will be held at the block dance and awards will be presented.

New unleaded gasoline to be available by July 1

Unleaded gasoline, that has to be used in most 1975 model cars, will be available at service stations across the country beginning July 1.

"Still, not all service stations will be able to carry the leadless gasoline," say auto experts.

Because of the shortage of gasoline and the time and expense involved in adding tanks and pumps at service stations, only those stations that sell large volumes of gasoline will handle the unleaded product.

The Environmental Protection Agency requires stations pumping at least 200,000 gallons of gasoline a year to offer unleaded gas to its customers.

Use of leaded gasoline in new model cars will foul the catalytic reactors with which these cars will be equipped. The reactors are aimed at removing the hydrocarbons and noxious carbon monoxide from the exhaust. Therefore, the petroleum companies develop the unleaded gasoline.

Although most new model cars will contain the reactors, some will be able to meet clean air standards without them, as long as they too, are operated on unleaded fuel.

Kitchen design and tools ease gourmet cooking

The phrase "gourmet food" often brings to mind visions of delicious dishes almost too difficult to prepare.

It shouldn't be that way, said Anna Muffoletto, who teaches students at her New York cooking school how to fix mouth-watering meals with a minimum of time and effort.

Her advice couldn't be more simple — organize.

A LITTLE planning goes a long way.

Planning involves step-saving kitchen layout, menu

Home improvement

selection and having the right utensils and equipment.

At Anna's Cordon Bleu school all necessary utensils hang on pegboard within easy grasp. This is not only convenient, it makes an attractive display and it saves space, an important consideration in almost anyone's kitchen.

SOME OF HER advice —

simple as it is — is more often preached than practiced.

For example, tidy up as you go along so you won't be faced with a mountainous cleaning chore after dinner. Of course, you always have dishes to do. Too tired? Stick them in the dishwasher. If you don't have a dishwasher, get one, Mrs. Muffoletto said.

Ideally, the refrigerator should be located next to the sink separated by a counter for washing and fixing vegetables. Pots and pans go near the stove, naturally. To save your countertops, a wooden chopping board is a must. Use one side of the board for strong foods (onions) and the other for mild foods (fruit). The best way to clean the board is to scrub it with coarse rock salt to absorb odors.

The floor should be easy to care for — preferably one of the new no-wax types on the market. Mrs. Muffoletto favors Armstrong's Solarian flooring in a fresh, white cobblestone pattern. Regular sweeping and a once-a-week sponge-mopping with mild detergent keep it shiny and new-looking without wax.

WHEN DRAWING up a menu, remember that some foods are more easily prepared than others and take less cooking time. So if you're going to attempt an especially ambitious entree, accompany it with relatively easy side dishes. This not only sets off the main course, it's one reason why some people seem able to serve an elegant dinner without getting a hair out of place.

Also, prepare things beforehand when possible. Many foods can be cooked and refrigerated or frozen to be reheated later without affecting flavor. On one of those rare mornings or afternoons when you have spare time, lavish a little imagination on a fancy casserole and stick it in the freezer. Make enough for two meals, and in effect you'll be cutting your cooking time in half.

As a professional chef and instructor, Mrs. Muffoletto needs more kitchen equipment than the ordinary person. But she thinks anyone can have a well-equipped kitchen, perfectly adequate to turn out most gourmet meals, with a score of basic items. She scorns "gadgets," but insists on quality tools to work with. They may cost more initially, but they do the job better and last longer.

For her students, she recommends carbon steel knives, at least three, for paring or peeling, chopping and carving. Carbon steel should not be soaked in dishwasher, just wiped clean. While carbon steel rusts (the rust can be easily removed with cream of tartar), it takes the sharpest edge.

A 12-INCH frying skillet is essential. It may be cast iron, steel or copper. If you decide on copper, the French seem to make the best type. The French copper is not merely a thin coating for show purposes but a heavyweight layer that heats evenly and won't warp.

An omelet pan is a desirable; so is a large stainless steel pot for boiling and a steel pan for sautes.

One of Mrs. Muffoletto's most valued possessions is a couscoussiere, a double-decker pot named for Couscous, a traditional Moroccan one-course meal. The bottom part can be used for boiling water and making sauces or stews, and the top acts as a collar for steaming vegetables.

No kitchen should be without a "bate coutelette," an impressive term for a heavy mallet. Many recipes, like Chicken Kiev, call for pounding the meat, or fowl, flat. The action of the mallet also tenderizes, an extra dividend that lets you prepare first-rate cuisine from cheaper cuts of meat, like breast of veal or lamb.

WITH A LITTLE forethought to menu planning, kitchen design and layout, and proper equipment, gourmet dining can be a regular occurrence in anyone's household.

And that's really what Anna Muffoletto's philosophy is all about — how to eat well — and enjoy it.

Newest floors are sheet 'tile'

There's something new in kitchen floors these days — tile that really isn't. Really isn't tile, that is.

Some people use the word "tile" to refer to all resilient floors, their proper generic name. Actually, the term "tile" can be applied accurately only to those floors that come in individual pieces, usually 12-inches by 12-inches, in the familiar square tile shape.

What's compounding the confusion is that many of the newer tile patterns are designed to fit together to give the wall-to-wall appearance of "sheet" flooring, the type that comes in continuous rolls 6-foot and 12-foot wide.

And now there's another development to reckon with. Many new patterns in sheet flooring are being deliberately designed to look like tile. This is the "tile that really isn't" — and it's a growing trend.

There are two main reasons why the tile look is becoming increasingly popular in sheet flooring, interior designers say.

First, they note that large numbers of Americans have traveled abroad in recent years. They've acquired a taste for "continental" home furnishings. This includes classic Old World floor designs, which are traditionally tiles.

Reproductions of these tiles, when they can be found here, are usually priced out of reach. From a practical standpoint, they can be difficult to clean and hard on the feet. The techniques used in the manufacture of modern resilient sheet flooring permit designers to duplicate these classic tile patterns at a fraction of the cost.

Second, many people are coming to prefer larger-scale floor patterns and are moving away from the tiny chip designs that once prevailed. Tile shapes lend themselves to bolder styling.

The range of tile patterns available today in sheet flooring offers something for almost everyone. Typical of the variety that abounds are three new Armstrong floors.

Garden Court, an addition to their Solarian no-wax series, has the ornate look of Spanish tilegrout bordered by square grout lines.

Warrington, a durable, easy-to-clean sheet vinyl floor, has crisp octagonal shapes repeated throughout the pattern which are softened by sprays of color in delicate pastel hues.

The third pattern, Dutch Colonial, is a close copy in cushioned sheet vinyl of authentic Dutch delft ceramic tile.

Paneling becomes simpler

For every homeowner who has delayed paneling a room because the job seemed too difficult, new 16-inch by 8-foot planks from Marlite make paneling easy for one person.

These planks, which come in woodgrain reproductions, patterns and colors, are only one third the size of conventional 4-foot by 8-foot sheets. Included are simple clips and adhesive to install this "mini paneling." Marlite planks have tongue-and-groove edges to simplify fitting.

Matching or contrasting moldings add the finishing touch to all walls remodeled with this "mini paneling."

PLANNING HELPS — Cooking instructor Anna Muffoletto credits good utensils and the design of her kitchen with her skill as a gourmet cook. Little time is wasted in Mrs. Muffoletto's cooking area since all the specialized tools she needs to prepare a Grand Marnier soufflé are close at hand while her kitchen layout enables her to prepare her meals more efficiently. The only addition residents needn't include in their kitchen is a mirror. It was installed to enable students in Mrs. Muffoletto's classes to watch her prepare her meals.

Dinettes appear in dining rooms

International, Mediterranean, and Modern styling innovations add fashion spice to the wide range of dining furniture designs introduced at home furnishings markets.

"What we're seeing is the evolution of what was formerly the painted metal dinette suitable only for the kitchen into a collection of smartly designed table and chair ensembles for every dining purpose, from the dining room itself to the family room, and the breakfast area in the kitchen as well," said style consultant Barbara Brody.

In addition to broadening the application of dining furniture, designers also have extended the suitability of models to the various sizes of dining areas in today's homes. And like all other fine furnishings the new ensembles are available in a broad range of accepted styles, to go with whatever decor the homeowner prefers.

Representative of this evolution for 1973 are the introductions by the B. Brody Seating Company, Chicago. Among its new collections are lightly scaled metal sets particularly well suited to the smaller dining areas of many new homes and apartments.

As project at Lincoln

Students visualize future of Van Buren Twp.

Van Buren Township's future may include underground transportation systems, solar and nuclear energy to heat the home and hybrid animals to produce food if those who will shape the future are right today.

Eighth grade students of Lincoln Junior High School in the Lincoln Consolidated School District drew the proposals for Van Buren and surrounding areas after the year 2000 during a class research project.

THEY WERE THEN asked to draw up designs to solve those problems. A possible decline of fossil fuel sources was solved with a model for nuclear reactors and solar energy plants for heating the home and running the transportation systems.

The students designed new transportation systems, for mass transit above and below the earth's surface. The concept was designed to save space on the land for development.

AND TO MEET increasing demands for food, the students envisioned hybrid animals which would produce more food than those animals used for food today.

Following the drawing up of their proposals for the future, the students were asked to illustrate their ideas from materials they found in the 20th Century.

Undersea cities were made from plastic tubing, aluminum pie tins and yellow egg cartons.

Mass transit vehicles were made from cheese boxes and potato chip cans.

Officials at Kerr gain Italian 'title'

Two officers of Kerr Manufacturing Co. in Romulus have been given the titles "Knight in the Order of Merit of the Italian Republic."

Kerr President Russell E. Nelson and Kerr Vice-President of Manufacturing Alfred Widerstedt were given the honor by the Italian government in recognition of the benefits the Kerr plant in Naples, Italy, made to the Italian dental industry and to Italian commerce.

Kerr opened a plant in Naples in 1960, but the structure partially was destroyed by a fire in 1972.

The plant was rebuilt to 3-times its size following the fire. Kerr also operates factories for manufacturing dental products in California, Brazil and Canada in addition to its Romulus plant.

Students top list at Detroit college

Three Romulus students are among those named to the dean's list at the University of Detroit.

Polka, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Polka of 35699 Ronald St., Romulus, is a business administration major in the university's college of business.

The students are Carolyn Y. Scott, Frank A. Polka and Cynthia M. Trosin.

Miss Scott, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Scott of 1975 Delano St., Romulus, is majoring in humanities in the college of arts and sciences.

Several residents stay in hospital

Residents from the Belleville-Romulus area have entered Belvil Community Hospital in Belleville for various reasons during this past week.

Entering the hospital for surgery were Lois Parent of Savage Road, Belleville; Lucky Tucker of Ward Road, Belleville, and Fayette Crowder of Reed Avenue, Van Buren Township.

Entering the hospital for medical reasons were Edith Alford of Belleville Road, Belleville; Connie Jenkins of Martinsville Road, Van Buren Township; John Swornik of Carriage Lane, Belleville; Richard Maes of Bemis Road, Belleville, and Elizabeth James of Clay Road, Van Buren Township.

Entering the pediatrics section of the hospital were Brenda Yee, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Yat Wing Yee of Maple Street, Belleville, and Barbara Garza, the daughter of Donna Reaume of Main Street, Belleville.

Dancing classes may be offered

The Van Buren Township Recreation Department may sponsor a belly dancing class after several residents asked the department to offer a course, said Van Buren

Recreation Director Jeffery G. Clark.

Clark said if 12 or more residents register for lessons, arrangements will be made to begin a belly dancing class in the fall.

DPW will follow sweeping plans

The Romulus Department of Public Works intends to follow a strict street-sweeping schedule this summer.

James C. Radford, assistant director of public works, said the schedule will be followed unless it rains on a day when a particular area must be swept. The sweeping would then be postponed one week.

The schedule is:
— Mondays, Meadows Subdivision;
— Tuesdays, Oakbrook

Subdivision:
— Wednesdays, Huron Hills Subdivision and the urban renewal area;

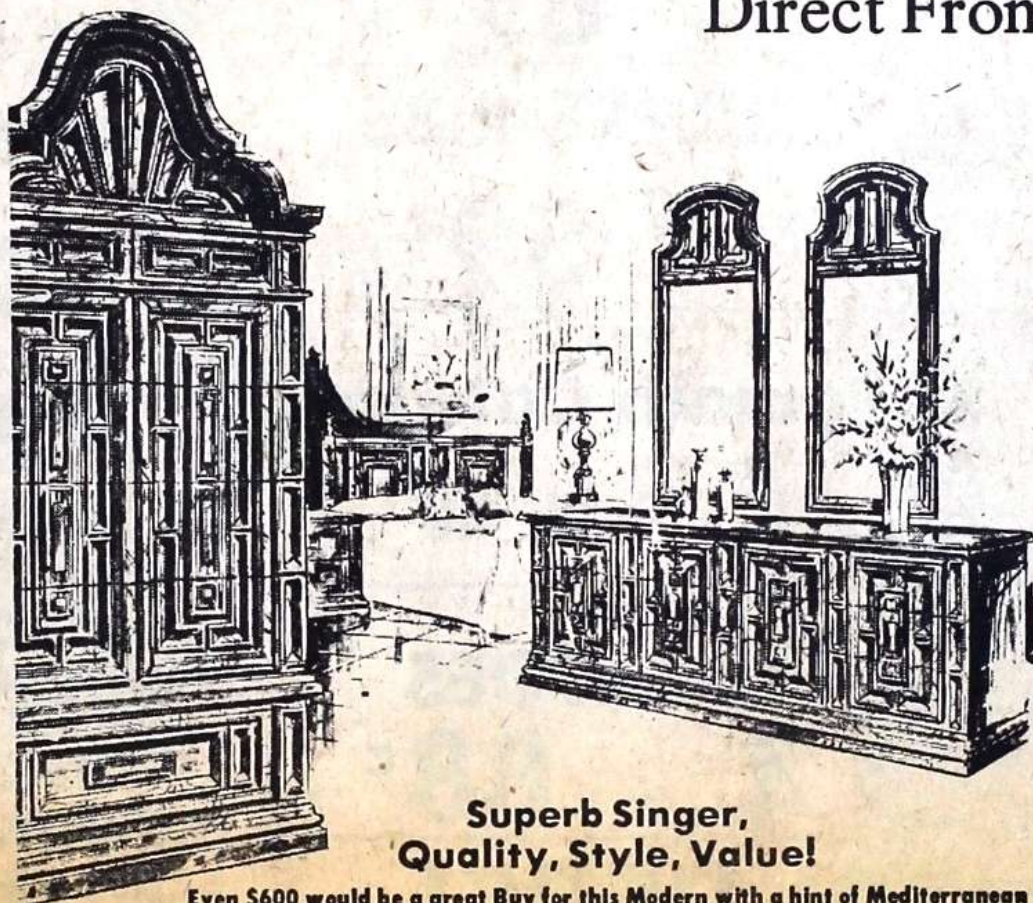

— Thursdays, Huron River Estates Subdivision and
— Fridays, Wyndelift

Subdivision and downtown Romulus.

Radford asks that residents in the subdivisions attempt to keep parked cars off the streets on the days their area is to be swept.

Tiger draft choice leads All-Area '9'

By TOM MOORADIAN
Eagle Sports Editor

Livonia Churchill made the All-Area baseball team "easy pickings."

Of the 12 players named to the 1974 Daily Eagle-Associated Newspapers' coveted squad, five were drafted from Churchill, the reigning Class A state champs.

And, of those five, one - Brian Kelly - was drafted and has signed with the Detroit Tigers. His teammates Al Leirstein, Rod Hawraney, Jay Nelson and Dave Panzoff are also on the All-Area roster.

OTHERS NAMED are: Kevin Coffman (Wayne Memorial), Jerry Herbst (Garden City West), Oliver Gaston (Inkster), Brian Hopton (Wayne Memorial), Tim Livesay (Livonia Franklin), Dave Dapsi (Belleville) and Jeff Hodgkins (John Glenn).

Kelly, who batted .350 and was 14-for-14 in stolen bases during a season which was highlighted with the Livonians capturing the state title, will report to the Tigers' rookie farm club at Bristol, Va., of the Appalachian league on Monday.

A 6-0, 175-pound shortstop who bats righthanded, had amassed a three-year high school batting average of .376 and stole 29 bases on 31 attempts. Brian also won letters each in football and basketball during his prep career.

PANZOFF, phenomenal this year, has been formidable on the mound for Frayer's Chargers. The 5-9, 155-pound senior mixed his fastballs and curves to win all nine of his starts. He had a 1.08 ERA this season in pitching 66 innings, striking out 96 and walking seven.

As a junior Dave compiled an 0.57 earned run average and wound up his prep pitching career as a 20 game winner (20-4).

is Glenn's Hodgkins who compiled an 8-2 won-lost record. In 51 and one-third innings, Jeff faced 221 batters, gave up 23 runs, 44 hits, struck out 65 and walked 18.

AN ALL Northwest Suburban Conference pitching choice, Hodgkins amassed 17 career victories and 170 strikeouts which staked him to seven shutouts and 21 complete games. In one span he had tossed 20 and one-third consecutive scoreless innings. Nelson and Dapsi, the only two juniors to break into the star-studded lineup, were selected as this year's top catchers. Nelson, 6-2, 175-pound, played a key role in the state finals.

"Jay is without equal defensively," said Frayer, "he made 169 putouts for us this season and allowed only one error and one passed ball - and that was the opening game."

"He didn't allow anyone to steal in the entire state tournament."

Of the 18 who attempted to steal against him during the season, 14 were erased. Nelson's bat also was effective. He finished with a .250 batting average.

Dapsi was Belleville's power hitter as he hammered three home runs, a triple and four doubles en route to a .333 season. The hefty backstop's arm kept Tiger baserunners in check most of the season. He threw out nine and finished his junior year strong.

"Dave hits the extra long ball," said Coach Vit Kamunskis, "and he came on really strong at the end of the season."

LEIRSTEIN handled the first baseman's position flawlessly for Churchill. Like his teammates, Al also was named to the Western Six Conference team, batting .344 on the season. He also had a perfect 10 of 10 stolen bases. Alma College, Frayer's alma mater, offered Leirstein a football and baseball scholarship, and Al accepted.

At second, Coffman provided Wayne Memorial's defense a strong and experienced player. At bat 94 times, Kevin swatted 31 hits, had 7 RBI's, scored 15 times and finished with a .330 average.

A versatile athlete who also lettered in football, Kevin hopes to enroll at Albion College in the fall.

HERBST's bat kept Garden City West in the thick of the Tri-River Conference title race. The solidly-built third baseman ended his prep career with a .354 batting average which featured 16 RBI's and 34 hits. He also compiled a 9-2 won-lost pitching record with 90 strikeouts for 75 innings pitched.

Hawraney, one of four outfielders picked for this year's team, was Churchill's leading hitter. Frayer shifted him from behind the plate to the outfield and the move paid off.

Rod also got the credit for knocking in the winning run in the first inning of the state championship game against Hazel Park. He batted .366 and went eight-for-14 in the last four state tourney games. He also had 18 RBI's, two homers and batted in the cleanup slot.

GASTON, who was used in the outfield as well as on the mound by Inkster Coach Preston James, helped the Vikings win a share of the first Suburban Athletic Conference championship.

He had a fantastic .473 batting average, scored 20 runs, had 18 RBI's five triples, three homers, two doubles and 14 stolen bases.

"A lot of scouts are looking at him," said James. But Gaston apparently wants to further his education. A top-notch student, the 17-year-old senior has received a scholarship to attend the University of Wisconsin.

Livesay also had an outstanding year at Livonia Franklin. Though the defending Northwest Suburban champs lost their title to Thurston, Tim couldn't be blamed - he batted .350 in the year, accounting for 20 hits, 11 RBI's and 11 bases on balls. He committed just one error all year.

The Most Valuable Player for the Patriots, Livesay also was a unanimous all-conference choice.

"Tim's probably the best all-around player I have," said Coach Ron Hellier.

Hopton appeared at the plate 88 times and managed to hit safely 29 of those times, finishing his prep career with a .333 average.

"He was one of our most effective all-around players," said Wayne Coach Jim Chronowski of his senior outfielder. "We got off to a slow start, but Hopton kept us going until the others came around."

Tom Tulle avenges dad's loss

By TOM MOORADIAN

We are a nation of hero worshippers, sociologists will tell you.

And one of the reasons we need heroes is that they help us identify with a winner. We follow the trials and tribulations of a Mark Spitz, a Hank Aaron, a Jack Nicklaus, a George Foreman because they apotheosize their professions.

But when our heroes fall, the experience to them - and their army of zealous fans - can be frustrating.

That word - frustrating - is probably the best way to describe Angel Cordero's feeling - and the army of his followers after Saturday's Michigan Mile.

CORDERO, THE HERO of the 1974 Kentucky Derby when he drove home Cannonade to victory, became the goat of the 26th running of the DRC classic when he finished eighth atop the overwhelming favorite, Everton II.

"I don't know what happened," said a dejected Cordero after the race.

"Everton just didn't fire," offered Craig Perret, who rode Tom Tulle to a relatively easy victory over the 1 1/4 course.

Tom Tulle, a 4-year-old colt, owned by W. Archie Lofton, and trained by Jere Smith, was clocked in 1:50 2-5, which is three seconds off the track record. He beat Rastafarian, who finished second, to the wire by 2 1/2 lengths. List was third.

Tom Tulle paid his backers $7.80, $4 and $3.00 across the board.

CORDERO'S STRATEGY was to stay away from the rail and a crowd of 16,972 watched and waited for him to make a move after coming out of the eighth post position. He rallied briefly but never lived up to his credentials.

Everton II has joined the ranks of other greats - Autobiography, Damascus and Roman Brother - in the graveyard of "Mile" favorites.

And Tom Tulle, the son of former famed Michigan Mile starter Tom Rolfe and a grandson on the maternal side of immortal War Admiral, can stand proud that he avenged his father's defeat suffered in the Mile classic of 1966.

In that year Tom Rolfe, sent off by the bettors as the favorite, finished second to Stanislas.

So the Michigan Mile jinx continues...

AND, ROMULUS HIGH School has found someone to replace Jim Stallings, the interim head football coach. Stallings is moving over to Ypsilanti to handle the Braves' wrestling squad and also teach.

The new head grid mentor is Tom Baldwin, who coached the tennis team this year. Tom's a Mt. Morris High graduate

Churchill's Frayer is coach of the year

Rog Frayer, the amicable (when he's off the diamond) baseball coach of Livonia Franklin, tried a couple of things differently this season.

"In the past we always peaked too early and were in first place until half-way through the season, then fell off," Frayer related. "This time I gave the kids Easter week off, so when they came back they were well rested and had an excellent mental attitude. It made us peak a little later."

"I think it also was good for the kids to have me off their backs for awhile."

That new strategy also paid off in a 22-2 won-lost record, a Western Six Conference title and the state Class A baseball championship - the first team state title for the school, for the area and for Frayer.

FRAYER'S deeds also earned for him The Daily

ROGER FRAYER

Eagle Associated Newspapers' Coach of the Year honors - just one of many accolades he has received in recent days.

In his fifth year at Churchill, Frayer has a long tradition of playing for winning teams. As a quarterback and cornerback in 1969 at Alma College, Rog captained teams that amassed a 19 games winning streak, then the longest in the nation.

Frayer went on to earn all-conference cornerback honors in the MIAA, a feat he duplicated in baseball as a catcher.

AT CHURCHILL, Frayer also teaches research techniques for college-bound seniors, grammar and American literature.

Married to Beth, the Frayers have a three-year-old son, Christopher.

"I feel that coaching is one profession where you always have to keep up with the innovations and also teach sound basics."

"There are so many elements involved, that's why it is so interesting, so challenging and, believe me, you can't rest on your laurels or a 22-2 season can easily be reversed the next year."

(1968) who earned eight varsity letters in football, baseball and basketball and was a member of the all Big "9" team as a prep.

He also played for Ferris State, earning three varsity football letters and was the leading pass receiver in 1970, a feat which helped him earn All-MIAA Conference honors.

In 1972 he was Ferris' assistant freshman football coach and last year served as Stallings' assistant.

There was another notable coaching change and that came from Dearborn Heights where veteran Crestwood tennis coach Tom Klinefelter reportedly has decided to call it quits after nearly a decade as the Chargers' net mentor.

"I feel it's time to hang it up," said Klinefelter, whose team won Tri-River and regional titles this year.

He said that he wants to spend more time with his family.

And that, sir, is getting to be quite a cliché in this area, isn't it?

Tom Wilmot has been playing softball for area teams for nearly two decades. In fact, some of his friends have accused him of almost living on the diamond.

Wilmot, who has played for Bryant Walker Carpets in the prestigious Metro League, and is presently playing for Studio Lounge, has decided to get married.

That, of course, isn't unusual.

What is, is the site of the marriage ceremonies. He feels that since he has spent so much time on softball, that the proper and fitting place to get married is the softball diamond.

And his wife to be, 21-year-old Beckie Bandy agrees.

THE COUPLE plans to be married at 5 p.m. on the Jaycees' diamond in Westland, July 29. Tom has a softball game at 6:15 p.m. and he'll play in that, then the couple will go on their honeymoon.

Wilmot, who is a physical education teacher at John Marshall Junior High School in Westland, handed in the following lineup for that important day:

He'll be awaiting the bride-to-be at home plate. Also on hand will be best man, Charlie Howton. Then, approximately 5 p.m., Miss Bandy plans to fly in - that's right. She will be helicoptered in with the maid of honor, Pat Shipperly.

The two then will be joined by the bride's father, James, who will be stationed at second base.

There's also to be an "honor guard" made up of Studio Lounge's men and women's softball players. Of course, they'll be dressed in softball uniform.

THE UMP, I mean, the official for all of this will be my old friend from the Wayne County Juvenile Court, Judge James Lincoln.

Judge Lincoln has handed down some tough sentences in his time.

But, nothing like the one he's going to dish out to Wilmot.

Anyway, good luck to you Tom and all the happiness in the world, Beckie.

From an old pro - who's had some tough calls, too.

AND LET'S close shop for the night with this letter from Roger Frayer, the baseball coach of the Class A state champs at Livonia Churchill.

Dear Tom,

Romulus girl learning means to teach music

A Romulus girl is one of many from Grand Valley State College (GVSC) who is studying means to teach music to students with learning disabilities.

Karen Maxwell of 34674 Goddard Rd., Romulus, was one of several students who took part in a recent workshop between students of the college and the Eastern Orthopedic School in Grand Rapids.

This summer the students will participate in a 4-day music workshop, between Aug. 5-8 which will concentrate on concepts and techniques of teaching music to children with learning disabilities.

THE WORKSHOP will be an intensified overview of "Music for the Exceptional Child," offered within the college of Arts and Sciences at The Grand Valley State Colleges.

The course and workshop are aimed at using music as a tool to bring about behavioral changes in children with learning disabilities within all the special education groups including the deaf, blind, emotionally disturbed, mentally retarded or physically handicapped.

The full term course, taught by GVSC instructor of music, Mary Scovel, is required for the GVSC student going into special education. Mrs. Scovel said the summer workshop will be available opportunity for area special education teachers, music teachers and elementary school teachers to update and review techniques.

In the past, GVSC students observed the practice of music therapy by visiting area schools for the handicapped. But this spring handicapped children were invited to Grand Valley where GVSC students, including Miss Maxwell, taught mini-sessions.

THE SITUATION resulted in immediate feedback for the college students while the handicapped children got a feel for music through participation and interaction.

The handicapped student became acquainted with music symbols and sounds through games like music bingo.

Public hearing set on roads

A public hearing before the Wayne County Road Commission on the condition of Bemis and Lohr roads in Van Buren Township has been set for 7 p.m. Friday at the Van Buren Township Hall.

A citizen's group from the Suburban Estates Mobile Home Park at 16800 Lohr Rd., Van Buren Township, requested the hearing to discuss problems on the two roads.

PART OF SHOW—Explosions such as this will catch the collective breath of the more than 500,000 spectators who are expected to line the Detroit River on both the Windsor and Detroit banks this Monday for the annual J.L. Hudson-sponsored Freedom Festival Fireworks Display. The demonstration, which will have shells bursting more than 900 feet in the air, will be directed by a skilled 24-man crew anchored in the Detroit River.

Hall family sets first $1 million goal to save Detroit's acoustic marvel

The Orchestra Hall Family has begun the first $1 million phase of a $3-million project to restore one of the Detroit Metropolitan area's historical landmarks.

Frank D. Stella, co-chairman of the Orchestra Hall Family, set a $1 million goal for the first fund raising drive in an effort to restore what some entertainers call "an acoustic gem."

"The Orchestra Hall Family wishes to have Orchestra Hall in public use by the 1976 bicentennial year," Stella said. "Detroit has a gem in Orchestra Hall. The late Pablo Casals called it an acoustic marvel. Last month, Shirley Love of the Metropolitan Opera sang in Orchestra Hall, privately, and said: 'The Met on tour hardly ever gets to sing in a building of this acoustical quality. It will be a high crime if this hall dies.'"

"LISTED IN THE National Register of Historic Places, Orchestra Hall is Detroit's equivalent of Carnegie Hall, New York, Stella said. "It is capable of coming alive with similar superb programming and great performing artists of the world in surroundings worthy of them."

"On May 10, Detroit Mayor Coleman Young dedicated a plaque at Orchestra Hall recognizing it as the first building designated by the City of Detroit as an historic landmark. Its revitalization will complement the improvement of the neighborhood near Orchestra Hall and the new Medical Center that is across Woodward from the Hall. The Detroit Bicentennial Commission, on June 7, named Orchestra Hall as a bicentennial project."

The Orchestra Hall Family's restoration fund goal of $3 million is based on architectural estimates by Richard C. Frank, architect. He is a member of the National Trust for Historic Preservation, in association with Smith, Hinchman & Grylls Associates, Inc.,

Golf links allow visit to nature

Western Wayne County residents who are interested in "getting back to nature" while enjoying a round of golf can do both by playing the Kensington Metropark golf course near Milford.

Open from 8 a.m. to dusk daily, the course offers a challenging par-71 6,400-yard lay-out over land set aside as part of the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority's nature preserve in Kensington.

Fees for the course are $4.50 for 18 holes Monday through Friday and $5.50 for 18 holes on weekends.

Nine-hole play is $3 on weekdays and $3.50 on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

Golfers must provide their own equipment, however, power carts and hand carts are available.

Power carts cost $8 for 18 holes and $5 for nine holes. Handcarts are 50 cents. Information on the course can be obtained by calling 685-1408.

'Orchestra Hall is Detroit's equivalent of Carnegie Hall.'

Detroit, and Johnson, Johnson & Roy, Inc., Ann Arbor. The architectural study of Orchestra Hall, with a view to its restoration, partly was financed by the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

"The family has planned to restore Orchestra Hall in two phases," Stella said. "Phase I, valued at $1-million, will make the hall comfortable and useable to the extent of 1,000 seats nearest the stage. Making the exterior presentable and having the hall in use in time for bicentennial year programming are among the priorities of phase I.

"Phase II, projected at $2-million, will complete the restoration of this handsome auditorium in every detail, including bringing it to its full seating capacity of 2,200."

THE OFFICERS of the Orchestra Hall Family are co-chairpersons, Mrs. Jeremiah V. Jenks, Mrs. Joseph Siegel, Sander M. Levin, Frank D. Stella and Thomas Turner. The vice-chairpersons are

Mrs. C. Bradford Lundy, George Simon and Mark Valente. The secretary is Richard Magon and acting treasurer is Mario Di Fiore. Di Fiore and Magon are also members of the executive committee of Save Orchestra Hall, Inc., a local citizens group that prevented the razing of Orchestra Hall and in 1972 acquired title to it.

Paul Ganson, president of Save Orchestra Hall, Inc., said: "We shall look to the Orchestra Hall Family, in the months ahead, for leadership of a restoration fund that will permit the realization of all the best hopes and dreams of our citizens for Orchestra Hall."

chrysanthemums, shells, parachutes, artillery, thunder, comets, peony shells, hammers and flying fish crescendoing in sight and sound to the spectacular finale.

A team of 24 specialists works for two days preparing the show. They load four barges with 25 boxes of 6-, 8- and 10-inch mortars braced in 90 tons of sand. The day of the show, the barges are anchored in place in the Detroit River—opposite Cobo Hall, two opposite the Veterans Memorial Building, and the fourth opposite Ford Auditorium—all midway between the American and Canadian shores.

Special arrangements include closing the Detroit River to all traffic between the Ambassador Bridge and the Belle Isle Bridge from 9:00 to 11:00 p.m., traffic control and routing for the thousands of cars which will crowd the downtown area, and clearing of all possible vantage points along the river.

Cooperating with the fireworks officials are the U.S. and Canadian Coast Guards, the Detroit and Windsor Police Departments, both cities' Fire Departments, the U.S. Corps of Engineers, Detroit Parks and Recreation and Public Works Departments, and Festival officials.

In case of bad weather, the show will be held Tuesday

Intermediate school district eyes increase in county taxes

Western Wayne County children who have been cheated by nature will have a better chance if a group of concerned parents can convince voters of Wayne County to approve a tax for special education in the Aug. 6 primary election.

At the request of the parents the Wayne County Intermediate School District Board of Education has approved a proposal for a 1-mill ($1 per $1,000 of assessed valuation) tax for special education. If passed, it would cost the average county resident less than $10 a year.

The special education levy would be used to take care of an estimated 15,000 children who qualify for special education but are now receiving it. They are in addition to the 32,500 county children receiving special programs or services.

Many of these additional children have been in state institutions for the handicapped but are scheduled to be returned to their own communities. Others are children who would qualify for special education if their disabilities were adequately diagnosed. Better diagnosis will be one of the things provided by the local districts through the intermediate school district if the new tax is approved.

The 1-mill tax in Wayne County will produce about $13 million most of which will be returned to local school districts to be used only for special education.

In cases where the local district cannot—or does not choose to—provide a special education program, the intermediate district will provide the service at the local district's request.

The new special education act mandates that all handicapped children, from birth to 25, be educated to the extent of their abilities.

Owen to seek his 2nd term

The incumbent State Representative from the 22nd District will seek election to a second term.

State Rep. Gary M. Owen (D-22nd District) who was elected to the state legislature in November 1972, said he would base his campaign for reelection on his record during his first term in the legislature.

"I feel that I have represented the interest of all of the people of the 22nd district," Owen said. "I have, to the best of my ability, made myself available to my constituents at all times, and I will continue to do so, since it has been my objective to be their voice in Lansing."

THE STATE representative said his priorities, if reelected, will be the improvement of Ford and Belleville lakes, the elimination of "the inequality faced by homeowners under the current property tax laws," and the insurance of adequate funding for education.

In his first term, Owen has had one of the best attendance records in the House. This year, he has been present 100 per cent of the days the House had been in session and has voted on all major recorded roll call votes taken.

He is a member of the House Appropriations Committee. Owen, a former Ypsilanti Township trustee, holds degrees from Washtenaw Community College and the University of Michigan.

HE IS AN Army veteran. The 22nd State Representative district includes Belleville, Van Buren Township, a portion of Romulus, Ypsilanti and Ypsilanti Township.

West seeking rep nomination

The chairman of the Ypsilanti Republican Committee will seek his party's nomination to the 22nd District State Representative seat.

Lee Thomas West, 23, has announced that he is a candidate for the nomination.

An employee of WMUZ Radio in Detroit, West holds a bachelor of science degree from Eastern Michigan University in speech and is working on completing a teaching certificate.

WEST IS A life-long resident of Ypsilanti Township.

He is a former regional chairman for the Michigan Federation of College Republicans and was office manager in the 1970 campaign of former State Rep. Roy Smith. He has worked as a local coordinator for Congressman Robert Huber of Troy in his 1970 U.S. Senatorial bid.

West is a member of the Evening Optimist Club of Ypsilanti and immediate past-president of the Ypsilanti Exchange Club. He attends the Congress Street Church of God in Ypsilanti where he is youth choir director. He graduated in 1969 from Willow Run High School on Ypsilanti's east side.

In announcing his candidacy, West said: "The people of Michigan need a new beginning. There must be grass roots support to make government strong. Only when the people have that will they have real responsiveness in government, true electoral reform and government that really is open to all the people.

"SPECIFIC instances when government has not been responsive to the people have been abortion reform, where the people voted it down but the courts overruled them; the 18-year-old vote where the people of Michigan said no and the federal government overruled them."

"It is time for a new beginning," he said. "I will carry my campaign door to door. In spite of the odds and the political pundits saying this district can't be won, I believe it can be won by a candidate who seeks to represent the people."

NOTICE OF ADOPTION OF ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF THE CANTON-VAN BUREN WATER AND SEWAGE DISPOSAL AUTHORITY

TO: ALL OF THE RESIDENTS AND TAXPAYERS OF THE TOWNSHIPS OF CANTON AND VAN BUREN
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Township Board of the Township of Canton and the Township Board of the Township of Van Buren have each adopted the following Articles of Incorporation of the Canton-Van Buren Water and Sewage Disposal Authority pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 233 of the Michigan Public Acts of 1955, as amended.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF THE CANTON-VAN BUREN WATER AND SEWAGE DISPOSAL AUTHORITY

These Articles of Incorporation are adopted by the incorporating municipal corporations for the purpose of creating an authority under the provisions of Act No. 233, Michigan Public Acts of 1955, as amended (hereinafter sometimes referred to as the "enabling act").

ARTICLE I
The name of this Authority is "Canton-Van Buren Water and Sewage Disposal Authority". The registered office of the Authority will be located in the Township Hall of the Township of Canton, Wayne County, Michigan.

ARTICLE II
The incorporating municipal corporations creating this Authority are the Township of Canton and the Township of Van Buren, both in the County of Wayne, State of Michigan, which are hereby designated as the constituent municipalities.

ARTICLE III
The purpose of this Authority is to acquire, own, improve, enlarge, extend and operate a water system or sewage disposal system or any part thereof in accordance with the enabling act. The term "water system" as used in these Articles shall include all water mains, interceptors, laterals, water purification plants, pumping stations, wells, and all other plants, works, instrumentalities and properties used or useful in connection with the obtaining collection, treatment, purification and distribution of water. The term "sewage disposal system" as used in these Articles shall include all interceptor sewers, storm sewers, sanitary sewers, combined sanitary and storm sewers, sewage treatment plants, and all other plants, works, instrumentalities and properties used or useful in connection with the collection, treatment and/or disposal of sewage and/or industrial wastes.

ARTICLE IV
This Authority shall be a body corporate with power to sue or to be sued in any court of this state. It shall be comprised of the territory lying within the corporate boundaries of its constituent municipalities. It shall possess all of the powers granted by statutes now in effect or hereafter adopted or amended, and by these Articles, which are necessary to carry out the purposes of its incorporation, and those incident thereto. The enumeration of any powers herein or in the enabling act shall not be construed as a limitation upon its general powers unless the context shall clearly indicate otherwise. It shall have a corporate seal.

ARTICLE V
This Authority shall continue in existence perpetually or until dissolved by act of the parties or by law: Provided, however, that it shall be dissolved if such dissolution would or could operate as an impairment of the bonds or other contracts.

ARTICLE VI
The fiscal year of this Authority shall commence on the first day of January and end on the thirty-first day of December in each year.

ARTICLE VII
The governing body of this Authority shall be a board of Trustees, hereinafter referred to as the "Board", which shall consist of four trustees, two of whom shall be residents of the Township of Canton and be appointed by the Township Board of said township and two of whom shall be residents of the Township of Van Buren and be appointed by the Township Board of said township. Members of the first Board shall be so appointed within thirty days after these Articles become effective and their terms shall be staggered so that the two trustees from the township of Canton shall serve for terms expiring on June 30, in the years 1974, and 1976, respectively, and so that the two trustees from the Township of Van Buren shall serve for terms expiring on June 30 in the years 1975 and 1976 respectively. Succeeding trustees shall be so appointed on or before the fifteenth day of June of each year and shall serve for three-year terms beginning on the following July 1 and until their respective successors are appointed and qualified. Each trustee shall file his oath of office with the clerk of the constituent municipality from which he is appointed. Trustees shall serve without compensation but the Board may by majority vote of its total membership authorize payment of actual expenses incurred by any trustee in connection with the business of the Authority. The members of the first Board shall qualify by filing their oaths of office and shall meet for the purpose of organization within thirty days after their appointment and thereafter the Board shall meet for such purpose on the third Monday in July of each year at the time and place fixed for the holding of regular meetings. At each such organization meeting the Board shall select a Chairman and a Vice-Chairman, who shall be members of the Board, and a Secretary and a Treasurer who may but need not be members of the Board. The offices of Secretary and Treasurer may be combined and held by one person if so provided in the By-Laws. Such officers shall serve until the next annual organization meeting and until their respective successors shall be selected and qualified. Failure to hold meetings or appoint or select trustees or officers as herein provided shall not render invalid any action taken by the Board or its officers. No appointment of any trustee or election of any officer, and no action taken at any meeting, shall be invalid because it did not occur within or at the time specified in these Articles. Any member of the Board may be removed for cause at any time by majority vote of the legislative body which appointed him. Any officer of the Board may be removed at any time by majority vote of the total membership of the Board.

ARTICLE VIII
In the event of a vacancy on the Board, the legislative body of the constituent municipality which appointed the trustee whose position has become vacant shall fill the vacancy for the unexpired term. In the event of a vacancy in any office of the Board, such vacancy shall be filled by the Board for the unexpired term. In case of the temporary absence or disability of any officer, the Board may appoint some person temporarily to act in his stead except that in the event of the temporary absence or disability of the Chairman, the Vice-Chairman shall so act.

ARTICLE IX
Regular meetings of the Board shall be held at such time and place as shall be prescribed by resolution or in the By-Laws of the Board. Special meetings of the Board may be called by the Chairman or any three members thereof, by serving written notice of the time, place and purpose thereof, upon each member of the Board personally, or by leaving it at his place of residence, at least twenty-four hours prior to the time of such meeting, or by depositing the same in a United States Post Office or mail box within the limits of the Authority, at least seventy-two hours prior to the time of such meeting, enclosed in a sealed envelope properly addressed to him at his home or office address, with postage fully prepaid. Special meetings of the Board at which all members are present shall be deemed to be valid even though no written notice thereof may have been given as above provided. Any member of the Board may waive notice of any meeting either before or after the holding thereof and written consent to any action taken by the Board shall have the same effect as if the consenting member had been present and had voted in favor of such action. At least three members of the Board shall be required for a quorum. The Board shall act by motion, resolution or ordinance. For the passage of any resolution or ordinance providing for the issuance of bonds there shall be required the affirmative vote of at least three members of the Board. For all other actions, a majority vote of those present shall be sufficient for passage, unless otherwise provided herein or in the By-Laws. The Board shall have the right to adopt By-Laws and rules governing its procedure which are not in conflict with the terms of any statute or of these Articles. The Board shall keep a journal of its proceedings, which shall be signed by the Secretary. All votes shall be "Yeas" and "Nays", except that where the vote is unanimous, it shall only be necessary to so state. Each member shall be required to vote upon all matters unless he shall be disqualified therefrom. No member may vote upon any matter in which he has a personal interest. No trustee shall have any financial interest in any contract with the Authority.

ARTICLE X
The Chairman of the Board shall be the presiding officer thereof. In the absence or disability of the Chairman, the Vice-Chairman shall perform the duties of the Chairman. The Secretary shall be the recording officer of the Board. The Treasurer shall be custodian of the funds of the Authority and shall give to it a bond conditioned upon the faithful performance of the duties of his office. The cost of said bond shall be paid by the Authority. All monies shall be deposited in a bank or banks, to be designated by the Board, and all checks or other forms of withdrawal therefrom shall be signed by two officers of the Board as shall be designated in the By-Laws or by resolution of the Board. The officers of the Board shall have such other powers and duties as may be conferred upon them by the Board. The Board shall prior to December 15 of each year, prepare, adopt and file with the legislative bodies of the constituent municipalities, an annual budget for the next fiscal year covering the proposed expenditures to be made for the organizing and operating of the Authority, and for the necessary funds required from each constituent municipality for the next fiscal year.

ARTICLE XI
The authority shall have power to acquire property necessary for its purpose by purchase, construction, lease, gift, devise or condemnation, either within or without its corporate limits, and may hold manage, control, sell, exchange or lease such property. For the purpose of condemnation it may proceed under the provisions of Act 149, Public Acts of Michigan, 1911, as now or hereafter amended, or any other appropriate statute.

ARTICLE XII
The Authority and its constituent municipalities may enter into a contract or contracts providing for the acquisition, purchase, construction, improvement, enlargement, extension, operation and financing of a water system or a sewage disposal system or any part thereof as authorized and provided in the enabling act. The Authority may, subject to the prior approval of the constituent municipalities, enter into contracts with any non-constituent city, village or township for the furnishing of water or sewage disposal service by any sewage disposal facilities owned or operated by the Authority, which contract shall provide for reasonable charges or rates for such service furnished. No contracts shall be for a period exceeding forty years.

ARTICLE XIII
For the purpose of obtaining funds for the acquisition, purchase, construction, improvement, enlargement or extension of a sewage disposal system or any part thereof, the Authority may, upon ordinance or resolution duly adopted by the Board, issue its negotiable bonds, secured by contractual full faith and credit pledges of each contracting municipality, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of the enabling act.

ARTICLE XIV
The board shall have power to secure all necessary services and to hire all necessary officers and employees to carry out the functions of the Authority and to fix the compensation therefor: Provided, however, that no officer or employee of any constituent municipality shall receive any compensation from the Authority except by the unanimous vote of the total membership of the Board.

ARTICLE XV
The Board shall cause an annual audit to be made of its financial transactions by an independent certified public accountant and shall furnish at least five copies thereof to each constituent municipality.

ARTICLE XVI
These Articles shall be published once in The Daily Eagle and The Belleville Enterprise & The Legal Times, newspapers having general circulation within the territorial limits of the Authority, and one printed copy of the Articles, certified as a true copy thereof, with the date and place of publication, shall be filed with both the Secretary of State and the Clerk of the County or Wayne within thirty days after the execution thereof has been completed. The Township Clerk of the Township of Van Buren is hereby designated as the person to cause these Articles to be published, certified and filed as aforesaid. In the event he shall be unable to act or shall neglect to act, then the Township Clerk of the Township of Canton shall act in his stead.

ARTICLE XVII
This Authority shall become effective upon the filing of certified copies of these Articles as provided in the preceding Article.

ARTICLE XVIII
These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time so as to permit any other municipality to become a constituent municipality of this Authority; if such amendment and the Articles of Incorporation as so amended are adopted by the legislative body of such other municipality and if such amendment is adopted by the legislative body of each constituent municipality of which the Authority is composed. Other amendments may be made to these Articles of Incorporation at any time if adopted by the legislative body of each constituent municipality of which the Authority is composed. Any such amendment shall be endorsed, published, and certified, and printed copies thereof filed in the same manner as the original Articles of Incorporation, except that the filed and printed copies shall be certified by the recording officer of this Authority.
